Portsmouth Historical Society presents
Four Centuries of Furniture in Portsmouth
—with the NH Furniture Masters

Discover Portsmouth, Friday, April 7 – Sunday, June 18, 2017

Members Opening Gala: Thursday April 6, 2017 5-7:30pm

Organized by Gerald W.R. Ward and Lainey McCartney, with the NH Furniture Masters

Portsmouth, New Hampshire... Portsmouth Historical Society is preparing dual exhibitions for the spring to celebrate and document the important history of furniture in Portsmouth during the past four centuries, and to present outstanding work by some of today's premier woodworkers.

Furniture—one of the most commonly used artifacts of everyday life—helps us understand shifts in taste and style, evolving social customs and behaviors, and changes in technology and economics. On the first floor of Discover Portsmouth's galleries, a loan exhibition of about 50 objects will interpret furniture made and used in Portsmouth as both art and history, starting with the joined furniture of the 17th century, through the colonial and federal periods of Portsmouth's heyday of cabinetmaking, and finishing with the revival styles of the 19th century. The exhibition will conclude with examples from the Arts and Crafts and studio movements, including an important rocker from Rock Rest, furniture used at the Portsmouth Peace Treaty in 1905, and a few modern examples of locally owned and retailed works of the 20th and 21st centuries—perhaps even an IKEA chair for contrast. Changes in how furniture has been regarded over time will be explored, including the transition from its role as a symbol of status and wealth, as well as the evolution of Portsmouth from a furniture-making center to a primarily retail market.

Featured objects in the exhibition will be drawn from distinguished private and public collections, including several works from Portsmouth Historical Society's holdings. While furniture will be the focus of the exhibition, the display will also include some paintings, prints, and smaller objects to provide visual variety, as well as a few carefully selected documents.

Concurrent with the main floor exhibition, the balcony gallery will include a display of works made by 15-20 members of the New Hampshire Furniture Masters (NHFMA), an elite group of woodworkers from throughout New England including Jon Brooks, David Lamb, Richard Oedel,

Jeffrey Cooper, and others. This NHFMA display will be accompanied by works in other media, and will also include examples of the NHFMA's important Prison Outreach Program. According to Curator Gerry Ward, "We're excited about the broad, diverse audience this two-part show will bring – the first floor exhibition may more likely draw the traditional decorative arts crowd of collectors, dealers, and scholars, while the contemporary craftsmanship and woodworking featured in the balcony would draw craftsmen, decorators and interior designers."
